DE PALMA MAKES NEW TRACK RECORD

(By Associated Press)
Speedway, Indianapolis, May 30.—Twenty-three drivers faced the starter in the 500 mile automobile race here today. DePalma set a new track record of 75 miles, averaging nearly 93 miles an hour at 1100 miles. He led an hour. At 100 miles he was leading Scales, Alley, Hearn and Milton in the order named. Wilcox and Thomas were out of the race early.

Ralph De Palma, driving at a terrific pace, led in today's auto race when the drivers entered the last half of the 500-mile dash. He was forced to the pits on the 101st lap with tire trouble, but got back in time to hold half a lap lead over Milton. Alvey was third and Scales fourth.

INDIAN WAR IS FEARED IN UTAH

Salt Lake City, Utah, May 30.—Heavily armed posses are resting on their arms at Bluff, Blanding, Monticello and other sections in the Indian Bad Lands, in San Juan county, Southeastern Utah, awaiting the outcome of a parole being conducted in Allen Canyon between a friendly Indian runner and a band of renegade Ute and Piute Indians, estimated to number more than fifty.

The Indian runner was sent to Allen Canyon by Sheriff R. Lynn Hyde, of San Juan county, to offer the renegades an opportunity to surrender before the posses are ordered to "close in" on them. The situation at Bluff, center of the Indian uprising that took place Saturday, following the killing of one of the braves and the wounding of another, today still is tense, and authorities fear that the Indians, who are known to have posted smoke signals throughout the day and built fire signals during the early evening, are awaiting re-enforcements before continuing their reign of terror.

Quiet On Tug River.

Frankfort, Ky., May 30.—Major Isaac Wilder returned today from the Tug river section where guerilla warfare was carried on both sides of the Kentucky-West Virginia border. He said the situation is quiet with disarmament in progress. He said the posses are not authorized to search houses and therefore it is impossible to secure the weapons of all belligerents.

HARDING SAYS FIRST DUTY IS TO OUR OWN

(By Associated Press)
Washington, May 30.—A nation loyal first of all to itself, but never failing to measure up to the demands of advancing civilization was pictured by President Harding today in his Memorial address at Arlington National Cemetery. He said American heroes of every war, accomplished far more than the immediate ends for which they fought, because they helped to erect a shrine for the liberty loving of every race. He declared the whole mission of America had become an unrealized dream if this heritage was ever sacrificed.

"Our country never failed to measure up to the demands presented in behalf of humanity and never will," he said. "When it ceases to meet these drafts it no longer will be our country. It will be a wretched and decaying memorial of another civilization that has crumbled, of another ideal which has failed, of another ambition for men's happiness which somehow has gone awry." In equal emphatic language the President asserted "this duty to civilization could only be accomplished if the nation first took care of its own integrity. I counsel no selfishness," he said, "no little Americanism. When I urge our first duty is to our own and that in the measure of its performance we will find the true gauge of our capacity to be helpful to be helpful to others."

BAILEY REMOVED TO JAIL IN LOUISVILLE

Louisville, Ky., May 30.—John Bailey, charged with the murder of Beverly White, of Versailles, near Barboursville in April, was brought here Saturday from Mt. Vernon, where he had been confined since his arrest, and was put in the Louisville jail for safekeeping. Bailey was moved at the suggestion of Attorney General Charles I. Dawson.

The removal followed a legal controversy in which power of W. M. Carmichael, Mt. Vernon, police judge, to grant Bailey hearing for bail was questioned. The county and circuit judges are disqualified to act in the case, and Carmichael was prepared to hold the hearing Friday, when a writ of prohibition was filed in the supreme court. June 10 was set for the hearing in the case.

Bailey was indicted in Knox county and granted a change of venue to Harlan. Later he was transferred to the Rockcastle jail at Mt. Vernon for safekeeping, when Judge W. T. Davis on his examining trial refused to grant bail. A wholesale jail delivery was recently staged at Mt. Vernon, when every prisoner but Bailey escaped.

On this occasion Bailey went to the home of the jailer and reported the escape. He requested the jailer to go back with him and spend the night, declaring he was "lonesome." Bailey was brought to Louisville by W. G. Nicely, of Mt. Vernon.

The shooting occurred April 15 as White stepped from the train at Heidrick Station, Knox county. The trouble is said to have been the result of the feud of long standing between the two families. White was on a business trip to the mountains, his first visit in many years.

Bailey escaped into the hills after the shooting, but later surrendered on being promised safe conduct to the Harlan jail. He went to Harlan surrounded by an armed group of kinsmen, who accompanied him with a party of deputy sheriffs to the Harlan jail.

METHODISTS RAISE $4,500 SUNDAY

Richmond Almost Reaches Its Quota First Day—Good Reports From Others

Richmond Methodists almost "went over the top" in their Christian Education Drive here Sunday. Of their quota of $5,000, they secured $4,500. Campaign Chairman C. C. Wallace is confident that the balance will easily be subscribed this week. The drive continues all this week. News came to Dr. W. O. Sadler, local pastor, that many other Methodist churches in this section, easily made up their quotas Sunday. Among them were Maysville, Shelbyville, Harrodsburg, and Epworth church in Lexington.

Local Methodists and others gave liberally to the fund which is being sought.

The appeal will close June 5. However, leaders express the opinion that quotas will be completed long before the close, as many laymen have made up their minds as to their contributions.

Six Kentucky schools and colleges are interested in the outcome of the movement. The sum of $1,120,000 is being sought in Kentucky, $600,000 in the Louisville Conference and $500,000 in the Kentucky Conference.

ELMER DEATHERAGE IN SHERIFF'S RACE

Popular Democrat Says He Has Long Had Ambition—Pledges Law Enforcement

Formal announcement is made today of the candidacy of Elmer Deatherage for the democratic nomination for Sheriff of Madison county.

Mr. Deatherage is too well known to need any sort of compliments or encomiums from any one. He is one of Madison county's most popular citizens, esteemed and beloved by all known for his unflinching democracy, his loyal friendship, generosity, charities, and personal gentility.

For a long time he has had an ambition to be sheriff of Madison county, and he says he still has it. Many of his friends have become convinced that now is the accepted time, and he has determined to pitch his hat into the ring, and go after this, the principal political honor of old Madison.

That he will make a good sheriff of the county if nominated and elected, goes without saying. In his card to the voters, he pledges himself to strict enforcement of the law without fear or favor. And his promise that he will rigidly enforce the law will win him a lot of friends all over the county.

He makes his announcement short and to the point. To the voters he says:

In response to the insistence of many friends and my own ambition, I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Madison county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary on August 6, next.

If you honor me with this office, I promise to give you faithful and efficient service in every possible way, and will do everything in my power to see that the laws are enforced, strictly, without fear or favor.

I will appreciate your vote and support.

ELMER DEATHERAGE.

PROCLAMATION TO LEGION MEMBERS

(By Associated Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., May 30.—F. W. Galbraith, Jr., National Commander of the American Legion, today issued the following proclamation to the Legion members:

"Today a mighty nation bows its head in memory of the men who have died that the nation might live—men of Bunker Hill, of Gettysburg, of Santiago, of the Argonne.

"The American Legion joins the nation in its reverence for the dead; but the Legion also claims a deeper kinship for those who gloriously fell in the world war. For these men were our comrades-in-arms, linked to us by the strongest of ties.

"We shall visit every grave today, at home and abroad, and speak words of comfort to the dear ones who mourn. But we shall not only give, we shall receive. For, as we stand at their graves today our comrades will speak to us. They will remind us of the dangers that best our beloved land, of the enemies, with in and without; of the long fight that must be waged. The voice of our comrades comes to us, like a call to arms. 'Fight on,' it urges us."

PUSHING SOLDIERS' DAWSON HOSPITAL

(By Associated Press)
Dawson Springs, Ky., May 30.—Work at the government re-education here, where a sanitarium of 22 buildings for disabled soldiers and sailors is being built, is being pushed as rapidly as possible in order that eight of the fireproof structures may be ready to house the disabled men as soon as possible. Buildings on which special effort is being put forth are the main infirmary, one semi-ambulant buildings and six ambulant buildings. Work on the powerhouse for which the contract recently was let, has begun.

The Sanitarium unit, when completed, will be composed of 22 buildings, which originally were to cost $1,500,000. This sum was found, however, to be inadequate for the construction of fireproof buildings and rather than build some non-fireproof materials the work has been held up. An additional appropriation of $750,000 now is pending in Washington.

"On this day every son and daughter of the republic should pay tribute to those who have made and kept us a nation. It should be a day of memory and acknowledgement—memory of how and at what price America has been bought, and made and kept—acknowledgement of our debt and obligation to the deathless dead, and to the heroic living who gave or offered all to preserve for us the great, free, common heritage of our citizenship."

"Today we remember all the dead from Valley Forge to Chateau Thierry, and with hearts swelling with gratitude we should see in our dead, those who are maimed, and disabled, and wounded, the great national sacrifice as their lives and deaths cry out to each of us in this land of freedom, and free chance and open opportunity—this is my body, broken for you."

"Memorial Day should be a day of re-consecration and dedication to the service of our country; thrilled with memories of the past; glorified by the recollections of our heroic traditions; touched and saddened by the broken and disabled of our last great war around us, let us solemnly determine that our dead shall sleep in honor; that we shall keep and hold that for which they died and transmit to our children and our children's children the heritage bought for us at the great price and that with God's help we shall hold fast to the faith of the founders and builders of the republic to the end that our country shall go on to the accomplishment of its mission and the fulfillment of the destiny of old blood."

"Great Lord of Hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget—lest we forget."

SOLDIERS' GRAVES ARE DECORATED

Memorial Day Carries a New Significance—Governor's Beautiful Proclamation

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., May 30.—The graves of soldier dead in the four Louisville cemeteries were decorated here today by committees from the Woman's Auxiliary of Jefferson Post of the American Legion. Services were held in each.

At Cave Hill, Evergreen and St. Louis cemeteries, a cross similar to the ones that mark the graves of the American dead overseas was erected at each grave and a wreath put on each. These will be permanent markers. In the Jewish cemetery the Star of David was placed upon each of the graves.

Jefferson Post of the American Legion participated in the services. The Memorial Day address of the United Confederate Veterans was held Saturday, May 28, when the graves of the Confederate dead were decorated. Dr. John M. Van Der Meulen, president of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, delivered the address. A number of solos were sung and an industrial band furnished the music.

In an address to the people of Kentucky, Governor Morrow calls on them to remember all of the dead from Valley Forge to Chateau Thierry and to make Memorial Day a day of consecration and re-dedication to the service of our country. The address of Gov. Morrow to the people of the state, follows:

"On this day every son and daughter of the republic should pay tribute to those who have made and kept us a nation. It should be a day of memory and acknowledgement—memory of how and at what price America has been bought, and made and kept—acknowledgement of our debt and obligation to the deathless dead, and to the heroic living who gave or offered all to preserve for us the great, free, common heritage of our citizenship."

While about it, and it's necessary to build a new school, why not put up one that will take care of the city's school needs for next 100 years or so?

It should be a fire-proof building, constructed according to modern standards in every way. Let's don't do this thing halfway, if we're going to do it.

Architect Webber says that one main, central building, built on the Madison High School site, could be operated far cheaper to the taxpayers than two buildings, if the new building is erected on site of the old Caldwell school. As a taxpayer, the Daily Register would like some facts and figures on this point. Let's hear from Mr. Webber.

A taxpayer writes the Daily Register today and asks what will be done with the site of the old Caldwell building, if the Madison Hi site is used for the entire school buildings of the city.

The School Board should answer this fully and frankly. It will undoubtedly do so.

There are other questions that will present themselves and the Daily Register will take pleasure in printing any questions that taxpayers and voters want to ask about.

The Daily Register understands that the colored citizens are asking several thousand dollars out of the proposed bond issue, to make improvements at their school. A statement from leaders of the race in the city setting forth their position in regard to their school and the bond issue, will be welcomed. The people are entitled to know fully the school situation in Richmond.

The Daily Register wants to know itself just what the people want to know and for one it's going to know before it supports the bond issue. It feels confident that the gentlemen of the school board and their counselors will give fully and freely their reasons for all plans that have been made.

The third high school building in Portland, Me., has been destroyed by incendiaries.

ORE DRESSING SPECIAL STUDY

Big Mine Companies Encourage Scientific Research Work

in Ore Concentration.

DEPLETION OF IRON ORES

There is an Annual Demand for 75,000,000 Tons of Low-Grade Variety—Direct Result of Lessons Taught by War.

New York.—America's fast thinning deposits are yielding more and more grudgingly the 75,000,000 tons of iron ore annually consumed in this country, according to authorities at Columbia university, where the upbuilding of ore-dressing laboratories is being fostered by big outside enterprises.

Profit from a bountiful supply of high-grade ores was easy in the old days, it was said, but now to reap even a small margin of gain enormous tonnages of low grade ores, requiring highly specialized scientific knowledge and skill, must be treated.

The application of scientific knowledge gained in college laboratories is facilitated by the co-operation of the universities and the industries, Arthur F. Taggart, professor of ore-dressing in the Columbia schools of mines, engineering and chemistry, said in connection with an announcement by the trustees of a gift of $2,500 for the purchase and installation of new equipment for the university's ore-dressing laboratories.

"This gift, by the Miami Copper company for the promotion of research in the problems of ore concentration, is further evidence of the generous attitude on the part of many company officials toward the engineering schools," Professor Taggart said.

Another Lesson From the War.

"It is a direct result of the lesson taught by the war that much of the knowledge gained in pure research in the college laboratory can be rapidly and profitably applied to commercial technical operations by proper co-operation between the technical staffs of commercial organizations and the investigators in the universities.

"The importance of thorough and specialized training in ore-dressing has been recognized coincidentally with the rapidly increasing demand for scientific and technical knowledge imposed on concentrating mill operators by the constant diminution in grade of metallic ores available for exploitation. In the old days of high-grade ore deposits no special knowledge was necessary to make a profit out of the treatment of the ores mined.

"According to W. G. Swart, mining and metallurgical engineer of Duluth, in an article written for Engineering Foundation, which is fostering industrial research on a nationwide scale, each year there are consumed in the United States about 75,000,000 tons of iron ore. Known deposits meeting this requirement are being rapidly depleted. The economic utilization of low-grade ores is the solution of this problem."

"To treat the present-day, low-grade ores at a profit requires the handling of enormous tonnages on a very small margin of possible gain," Professor Taggart continued. "The successful initiation and direction of such projects call for the highest scientific knowledge and engineering skill. Since no two problems of ore treatment are alike, training in the subject properly takes the line of a thorough grounding in fundamental principles, with each lesson pointed, where possible, by an experiment with a typical piece of mill apparatus. Such training for the general student in mining and metallurgy fits him for attack on the usual concentrating problems that will arise in his engineering experience.

Intensive Training.

"The man who plans to be a specialist in ore treatment needs more intensive training. This may be obtained either in the field or in school, but such a man will save time if he does part of his preparation in a school where the experience of an instructor is available for direction of his efforts and help in his difficulties. For such a student intensive research into some difficult and, preferably, slightly explored field is the best of all training.

"His calls in later work will mostly come only because others have failed in the solution of the particular problem, which usually means that it is new and difficult. Hence, his training must teach methods of attack and aid the development of the student's imagination, initiative and analytical ability. Research as outlined will do this, or it will make evident the lack of such qualities, without which successful specialization is impossible, and thus save much labor and disappointment.

"Co-operation between the universities and the industries of the country has been the subject of much thought within the last few years and many plans have been put forward to make such co-operation effective and profitable to both parties."

Oklahoma Business Man Says Tanlac Restored Him A Year Ago—Still Feels Fine

"I endorse Tanlac from the bottom of my heart, for it set me right a year ago and I have enjoyed the best of health ever since," said Claude E. Andean, of 200 Garfield street, Sand Springs, Okla. Mr. Andean is a member of the firm of Andean and Day, and his standing and influence are too well known to require further comment.

"I hadn't been in good health," he went on, "for some two years and was so run down generally I could hardly take care of my business. What little I ate did me more harm than good and I felt tired out from morning till night. I was nervous and restless and my whole system seemed to be out of order. I didn't know what it was to feel good, and I was worried over where it would all lead to.

"I saw Tanlac so highly recommended that I made up my mind to try it and nothing surprised me more than the way I picked right up. Three bottles simply put me to feeling like I had been wanting to feel, and to this day I have been in as good health as I ever was in my life. Tanlac certainly proved its worth in my case and there is no question about its being a great medicine."

"To educate the reason without educating the desire is like placing the repeating rifle in the hands of a savage."
HERBERT SPENCER.

IN THE JUNGLE DAYS, when men killed each other with clubs, an education which simply taught them to make guns would have made bad matters worse. Along with the science of gun-making men must learn that it is wrong to kill with either guns or clubs. In other words, civilization progresses as technical and moral education keep pace with each other—as men learn to develop more perfect material things and also how to apply these things to higher ideals in life. Better things without higher ideals will make men more paganized pagans.

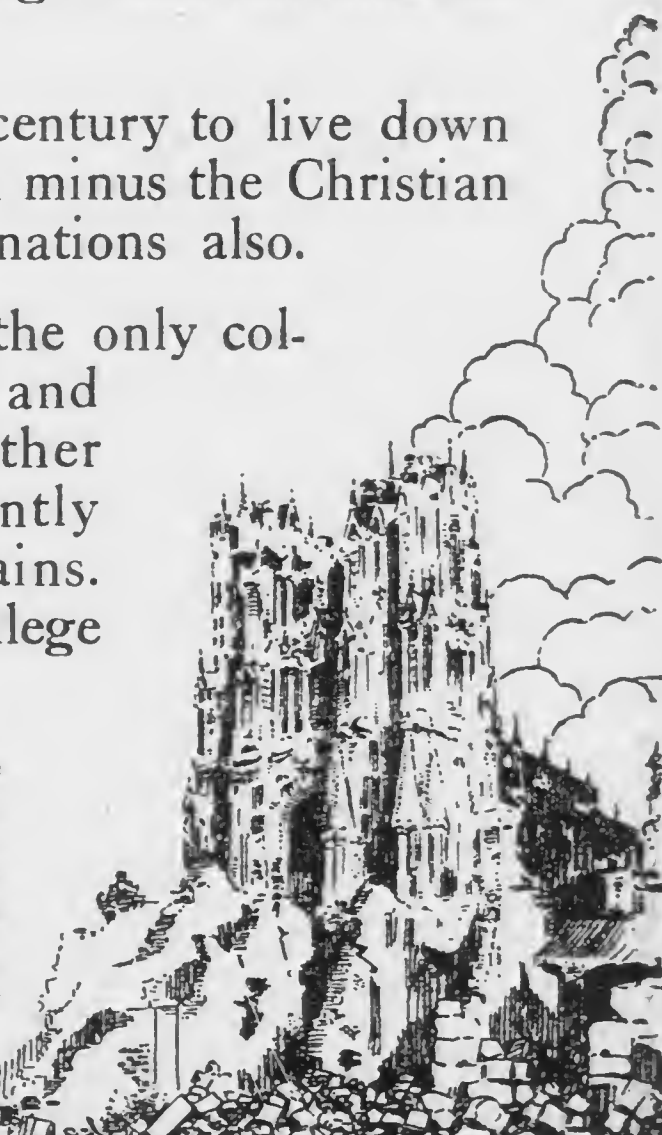

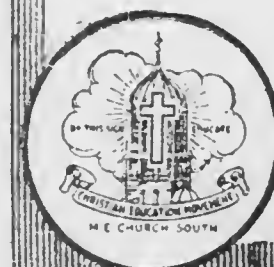

Christian Education is Complete Education

Moral education has fallen far behind technical skill in America. Our things often outrank the use we make of them.

It will take Germany a century to live down the effects of an education minus the Christian element. And all other nations also.

The Christian college is the only college which trains head and heart together. None other places the emphasis jointly upon character and brains. Therefore the Christian college is the hope of the world.

The M. E. Church, South, will raise a Christian Education Fund of $33,000,000 to equip and adequately maintain a system of 90 of the nation's finest and most thoroughly Christian schools and colleges. The campaign period is May 28-June 5. Send a check for this cause to the pastor of any Southern Methodist Church today.

THE ADVANTAGES of A CENTRAL PLANT And The Soundness Of The Board's Economic Policy

Educational authorities have been consulted by those in charge of the Richmond City Schools in regard to a new school plant for our city. George D. Strayer, head of the department of school administration of Columbia University, says that all towns of 10,000 population and under should have one central school plant. It is more economical, in point of money, time and energy; it combines and focuses all the school forces at one point, making for greater efficiency in every way; it is more democratic, more thoroughly American; it is conducive to a finer and more wholesome school spirit.

One central school plant has the tendency to keep more children in school throughout the entire twelve grades. The biggest problem in education is to keep the children in school. A few years ago it was thought that there should be a sharp division between the grades and high school: that they should be in separate buildings; that high school students should be called freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors and that they should be made aware of the fact that they had moved up a distinct step, just as the college freshman feels he has moved into a new company when he passes from high school into college. This theory has been more or less exploded. The new idea in education is that the continuity of the twelve grades should be emphasized. There should be no sharp division between the eighth and ninth grades, neither in subject matter, plan of recitation nor environment. The subject matter of the high school should extend down into the grades and that of the grades up into the high school. The wide gulf now between the grades and high school, the new surroundings and the new ways of doing things are the principal cause of the large number of students quitting school at this time.

Mr. Strayer further says that the only excuse for two buildings in any town is the fact that the city becomes so large when it reaches 15,000 or 20,000 that the number of pupils is unwieldy and the size of the building impractical. Richmond is only 6,000 and the average distance for each child to walk is increased very little with the hill location. Would any citizen prefer his or her child walking three squares to an inadequate building not built according to correct principles of school architecture and on entirely inadequate grounds, to walking six squares to an entirely modern building according to the best in school construction on the finest school site in the Commonwealth?

Some say it would save so much money to rebuild on the Caldwell lot. We want to show you that nothing would be saved by so doing—nothing, not even in present dollars and cents. We are assuming as common ground that Richmond people would not be satisfied with anything entirely wrong. If this be true, we know at once that the building cannot go back on the same foundation throughout with exactly the same walls, halls and rooms. We know this because the old arrangement was not right from the standpoint of even what is fairly good in school architecture. The axis of the building was wrong. It was east and west. The best axis for a school building is a little askew of north and south. Since the axis was wrong the lighting was wrong. The boys' toilet received light from the north only. No less an authority than P. P. Claxton, U. S. Commissioner of Education, says that a toilet receiving light only from the north has a bad effect on the morals of children. You could not go from the front of the building to the back without going outdoors or disturbing a recitation. The public objected to attending school functions because the auditorium was almost inaccessible. To correct all these details, including orientation, the architect says, would require $85,000. This would leave the high school in the same condition as at present. Everyone knows the incompleteness and inadaptability of the present high school building to the present high school needs. Twenty-five thousand dollars would not put the building in such shape as to give Richmond the high school her boys and girls should have. The $110,000 would then be consumed, the same as the architect's estimate for one central plant, and 550 grade children would not have the advantage of Madison's spacious grounds. In this presentation nothing whatever has been said of the saving resulting from the operation of one central plant in actual running expense each year. After all, would anything be saved in dollars and cents? Dollars and cents cannot rank in importance with the far greater and better things given to the children to help them be all they ought to be; and yet even from the dollars and cents point of view nothing would be lost.

There will be a mass meeting at the courthouse at 7:30 p. m. Monday evening. The whole question will be thoroughly explained. Every voter is invited to attend this meeting, to express himself freely, and to aid in the formation of an organization whose sole aim will be to immediately take steps to provide a school building.

The Roll Of Honor

There is no better tribute to pay to the men who have given their lives for a cause, than to dedicate ourselves to the triumph of the cause they died for.

That's a roll of honor on which every name can be entered; in which the daily activities of our lives may be made the expression of a patriotic purpose.

We can make our business serve the community, and through that, the country. It's easy to forget about it, in the prosaic affairs of life; but it is also possible to remember it. Today is a good time to think about it.

HAWAIIAN RACE BEING REBORN

Infusion of Foreign Blood Reinvigorates Inhabitants of the Island.

KOREANS REFUSE TO MIX

Analysis of 14,559 Marriages in the Islands Reveals Some Surprises to Science—Japanese Not Most Prolific Race on Island.

Honolulu, T. H.—The Hawaiian race, which with the Polynesians in general, has been regarded as a dying people, is being reborn and reinvigorated by infusion of alien blood, according to statistics just compiled by Louis R. Sullivan of the New York Museum of Natural History now attached to the Bishop museum in Honolulu.

Mr. Sullivan has just completed analysis of 14,559 marriages in the islands, selected at random, and his findings in some cases have been surprises to science.

According to the tables, more American men in the territory marry women of blood foreign to their own than marry American or British women. The Japanese are not, as has been supposed, the most prolific race in the islands, but are surpassed in this regard by Portuguese, Porto Ricans, part-Hawaiians and Spanish. Of American women, more than one in every six living in the islands marry Hawaiians, part-Hawaiians and others of blood strange to their ancestry. Of all the racial groups the Korean women represent the only one which refuses to mix blood, not a single case of a Korean woman marrying a man other than a Korean having been discovered.

A New Racial Group.

As a whole, the tables indicate, the part-Hawaiian group has a tendency to consolidate, rather than scatter, since of Caucasian-Hawaiian males who marry, 72.7 per cent marry back into the full-blooded Hawaiian strain, while only 1.8 per cent take white wives, and the remainder, either intermarry among their own kind or marry at large. Of Asiatic-Hawaiian males, 43.6 per cent marry back into the Hawaiian strain, only 1.3 into the Asiatic strain and a negligible proportion into the Caucasian strain.

The result, so far as the Hawaiian race is concerned, is said to be a new racial group, formed to a high degree, still ethnically susceptible to civilization's diseases, but with much higher resistant powers than the old Hawaiian stock and visibly adding to its numbers.

While the women of Korea lead all other males and females of the islands in marrying within their own race, there are other groups which are a close second in this respect. Only 0.3 of one per cent of Japanese women contract out-marriages, or unions with men of other races, while 0.7 of one per cent of Japanese men so pick their mates. The percentage for the Chinese is 6 per cent for the women and 41.5 per cent for the men; American, 17.0 for the women and 51.7 for the men; Portuguese, 32.3 women, 13.0 men; Hawaiian, 40.5 women, 19.5 men.

Pure Stock Dies Fast.

The pure Hawaiian death rate is the highest in the islands, 13.48 per thousand annually, although the pure Hawaiian birth rate is nearly twice as high as American, British and other whites.

Scientists recognize that susceptibility to diseases of civilization is responsible for the disappearance of the pure Hawaiian race, but the figures just made public by Mr. Sullivan are the first to show that the intermarriage is rebuilding the old race into a stronger, more hardy people.

BRITISH TO PUSH COLONIZING

Plan Being Made to Settle Undeveloped Parts of Empire as Defense Measure.

London.—The government is to hold a conference with representatives of the dominions to formulate a policy of promoting the settlement of British colonists in new and undeveloped parts of the empire.

This plan is intended to serve the double purpose of distributing the population of the United Kingdom so as to populate the empty spaces of the empire and insure that the additional population of these undeveloped territories will be British both in birth and spirit.

By these means it is hoped to provide for the defense as well as the development of the empire and to reduce the surplus of women over men in the population of the United Kingdom.

Could Not Get Central.

Castle, N. Y.—A country school teacher entered a business place one day and asked to use the telephone. A pencil sharpener was fastened to the shelf on which the telephone stood. She cranked the sharpener and took down the receiver. Getting no reply, she repeated it several times. Turning to the clerk, she said: "That's the reason I have never had a telephone installed in my house. You can't get service."

"Just turn the crank on the bell box. That was a pencil sharpener you were using," suggested the clerk.

PILOT HOLDS RECORD

Has Traveled More Than 3,000,000 Miles on Ohio River.

Captain Williamson, Sixty-Two Years in Service, Never Sick and Never Had Accident.

Cincinnati—Capt. Edward S. Williamson, who recently celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday anniversary, believes he holds a river record that is unequalled. For 62 years he rode on boats on the Ohio river. For 53 years he was a licensed pilot. Now he is captain of the steamer John S. Hubbard, which operates between Cincinnati and Louisville.

The veteran river pilot, in relating the interesting story, said: "I was about fourteen years of age when I was first employed on a boat operated by my father from Pomeroy, O., where I was born. I navigated the Ohio river for seven years, and when twenty-one I obtained a license as a full-fledged pilot. I passed the examination without any trouble. All the men who were members of the board of examiners have since died."

"For 35 years I was pilot for the White Collar line, and made two trips a week between Pomeroy and Cincinnati, traveling on an average of 1,000 miles a week. At that rate, I traveled 32,000 miles a year, and in 35 years 1,120,000 miles. Mind you, in all that time I was never ill or lost a day."

"For five years I have been making two trips to Louisville each week. Each round trip is 300 miles, or 600 miles a week. That would make a total of 156,000 miles in five years. So you can see that 40 years of my service is unaccounted for, as to distance traveled. I think I have covered more than 1,000,000 miles in 22 years, making a total in excess of 3,000,000 miles in 62 years of service."

During the 62 years of service Captain Williamson never was in an accident, and the only time he was prevented from traveling was when the ice stopped the boats.

During the Civil war Captain Williamson piloted the gunboat Alice up the Ohio river, when Morgan's raiders were approaching the North. "I had to stand between pieces of boiler iron while in the pilot house to avoid being shot," he said.

FARM LABOR NOW GETS $1.50 A DAY

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., May 30—Kentucky farm laborers who a few years ago deserted the farmers and sought the bright lights of the city may find some difficulty in returning to their former positions now that the city industries have slackened, according to the members of the Farm Economics Department of the College of Agriculture here. They state that indications point to a plentiful supply of farm labor in Kentucky during the coming summer.

The situation has been brought about by the fact that labor in general is plentiful and the prices of farm products are so low that farmers will get along with as little extra labor as possible during the coming months, members of the department state. In view of the fact that the demand for laborers has been decreased, farm laborers who are fortunate enough to get back their former positions will be compelled to accept a wage much lower than that paid to such workers during recent years, according to the predictions.

Indications cited by members of the department show that the general wage scale for farm laborers in the state has declined about thirty per cent in a majority of the counties of the state and to a greater degree in a number of others. Reports from different parts of the state show that

In the Name of God, Amen

"Having undertaken for the glory of God, and the advancement of the Christian faith, a voyage to plant the first colony in the northern part of Virginia—"

THUS reads the Mayflower Compact, signed by the Pilgrims on landing in America three hundred years ago. Our country was founded "for the glory of God and the advancement of the Christian faith." When our first Congress met it declared: "Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government, schools and the means of education shall be forever encouraged."

Our forefathers founded the first college in America because they "dreaded to leave an illiterate ministry to the churches when our present ministers shall lie in dust."

All elementary schools were distinctively Christian. The school house was built by the side of the meeting house. The minister was inspector of schools and chairman of the school committee. The text books in all the colonies were the New Testament, the Psalms, the Proverbs, the Sermon on the Mount.

And Now What?

Religion, God and the Christian faith have been excluded from many schools, and in some quarters the science of war has been put in. These schools may—and do—teach Hindu philosophy and pagan mythology, but forbid the Bible.

Under the materialistic influence of the past fifty years we have drifted far from Americanism. We have inclined to the path which led Prussia to ruin.

The Pilgrims Were Right

America should stand "for the glory of God and the advancement of the Christian faith." There is no other course of safety in this turbulent century.

This is the program of the Christian Education Movement of the M. E. Church, South, with its policy of making education thoroughly Christian and maintaining the finest system of Christian colleges in America. The college inculcates the ideas that should rule in human affairs. The Christian Education Movement harks back to true Americanism—the Christian Religion, Christian Education, constitutional government and civil liberty.

For this cause a fund of $33,000,000 will be raised
